Alexandria, VA 22314

Sir:

Applicant acknowledges with thanks the Notice of Allowance mailed December 15, 2005. In said Notice, the Examiner included the following statement of reasons for allowance:

6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The instant application is deemed to be directed to a non obvious improvement over the prior art of record. The improvement comprises first radio transceiver means for transmitting and receiving in a first mobile communications network and arranged such that successive transmission by the first transceiver means in the first mobile communications network are separated by a first period of time; and a second radio transceiver means for transmitting and receiving packets in the second radio communications network, arranged for transmitting and /or receiving an integer number of packets sequentially in the first period of time wherein the first radio transceiver is operable: to transmit in the first mobile radio communications network while, at the same time, the second radio transceiver is operable to receive in the second radio communications network; and/or the first radio transceiver is operable to receive in the first mobile radio communications network while, at the same time, the second radio transceiver is operable to transmit or receive in the second radio communications network, as recited in the claims.

Applicant observes that the Examiner's statement recites language that is not present in all claims. As to each claim, and with the exception of a claim (or claims) from which that claim may depend, the features of other claims are not incorporated into that claim. Instead, the scope of each claim is to be determined by its own language.

Respectfully submitted,
